ENCINAL HIGH SCHOOL

ALAMEDA, CALIFORNIA

FOREWORD

There is a harmony in all life
Which makes a new day begin
With the rise of the sun, and
Students begin with a dawn
Of eager expectations. As Vague ideas take on definite
Forms, a student's knowledge
Slowly increases with the Dawn also for the future
Gradually and constantly
Appearing. Memories dealing
With work, play, knowledge
And achievement at Encinal
High School are recalled to
The students through the 1968 HORIZON.

Ken, you're a nice guy stay that way
Good luck in years to come and may peace go with you wherever to go.
Remember me and when you do,

Class of 1968 Chooses Officers To Lead In Its Final Year

Since entering Encinal in the Fall of 1964, the Class of 1968 has constantly been an extreme factor in fostering the spirit and enthusiasm of the school. Its class officers have built and maintained a high standard of excellence in service both to their class and to the school as a whole.

Led in its final year by Dennis Wong, fall president, and Kenn Van Cleve, spring president, the class worked hard toward making its senior activities more enjoyable and worthwhile than any in the past. The class started off the year with the annual swim party held in October. The Senior Play, given in November, grossed more money than ever before. A new project, the Christmas Mailbox, distributed cards throughout the school. The annual Sadie Hawkins Dance, sponsored by the class, was held in March and was again a big money-maker. Final senior activities, the picnic, the assembly, the banquet and the ball, were held in late spring and rounded out the class activities. Graduation ceremonies were conducted June 14, bringing an end to high school life at Encinal for the seniors.

CAMPUS LIFE

Anguish, bruises, applause
And excitement unite our
Students to live and learn
Together as the sun rises
On a new life at Encinal.

Jutta Finds Encinal Different, Stimulating

A long trip marked the starting of a new era in life for Jutta Kronsbein, Encinal's 1967-1968 foreign exchange student. Jutta arrived from Germany during the summer to make her foster home with an EHS student, Barbara Bowman.

A lot of Jutta's time was spent at school and with home studies. Her special interest in American history showed up as she took courses in government and U.S. history.

Besides being in the classroom, Jutta spent much time with extra-curricular activities including being a member in 'S' Club, CSF, GAA and Model UN. Also Jutta took a strong interest in sports, especially football, where her spirit lasted from the first to the last game.

Jutta herself said, "I have come to find the Americans are much like German people. My ideals of the United States have become much more realistic."

JUTTA READILY ADAPTS to the different aspects of American life at Encinal as she tries to balance out her academic studies with athletics.

LIZ GARBER REFEREES a basketball game, as Jutta attempts a free throw.

Seniors Again Reign Victorious, 22-7

Tradition was reset as the seniors defeated the lower class team in their annual hard fought, Powder Puff game, played to obtain funds for AFS.

The lower class team provided a strong defense but not strong enough to keep the mighty seniors from making long runs and passes and three touchdowns. Skill and luck combined brought the final score of 22-7 as the lower class made their lone touchdown in the last quarter.

Half-time activities included the crowning of David Hollis as Powder Puff King with a bag of flour. Also as entertainment were cheers provided by the senior and lower class pom-pon boys.

Block E Suffers Traditional Defeat

Once more tradition was upheld as the Flabby Five defeated the Block E in their annual game. Establishing their lead in the first few minutes of the game, the Flabby Five built up points to the final score of 44-22.

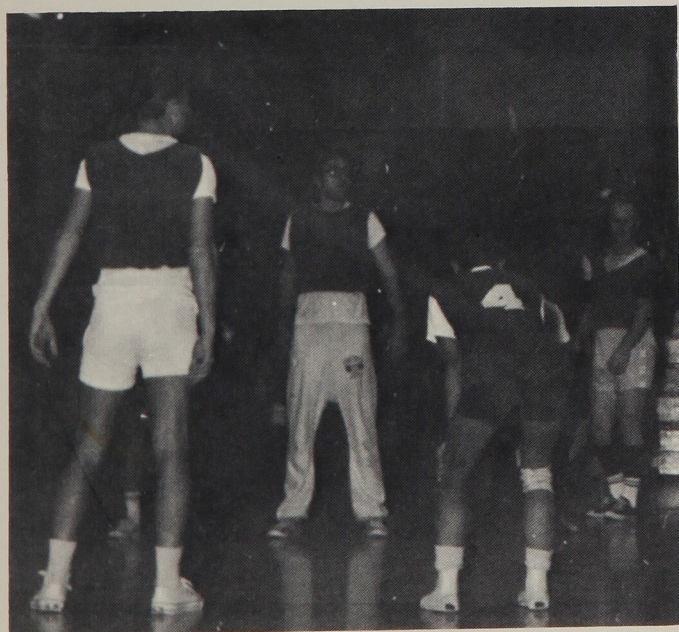

The Faculty team, lead by high scorers Mr. Alan Rebensdorf and Mr. Gary Haberberger, limited the Block E members to two and three baskets each throughout the game.

Making his yearly appearance was Santa Claus, played by Mr. Ed Winberg, who tossed candy to Block E and Flabby Five fans alike, during the early parts of the game.

Also present were Block E cheerleaders decked out in elf costumes and faculty cheerleaders in bright pink and white tunics. Besides leading their own teams in rousing yells, the cheerleaders exchanged a cheer during the third quarter.

New York Provides Set for Senior Play

Three star-bound couples, striving for a chance to get into show business, an over-worried father, a busy director and a nosy landlady dominated the stage as the Class of '68 presented their Senior Play, "Out of the Frying Pan."

Weeks of hard work on acting, props, scenery, costumes and make-up, under the direction of Mr. John Cotter and Steve Beer, produced three nights of entertainment for parents, teachers and students alike.

Members of the Senior Class who made the play a big hit were as follows:

Faculty Director.....	Mr. Cotter
Student Director.....	Steve Beer
Dottie Coburn.....	Sarah Delmore
Norman Reese.....	Jesus Corpus
George Bodell.....	Larry Kirkland
Kate Ault.....	Ramona Lomba
Marge Benson.....	Michele Palmer

(I'm under the blanket!)

THE UNSUNG HEROES of any production are the people who never get their names in bright lights. These people work backstage to make the production run smoothly. The Senior Play, "Out of the Frying Pan," is no exception to this rule. TOP: Nina Taylor finishes an application of greasepaint to Harold James, the policeman in the play. Student Director, Steve Beer, TOP RIGHT, supervises the placement of one of the main props, a couch. Members of the stage crew who are helping are Bob Haberman, Terry Miner, and Doug Milne. One of the most important scenes in the play is when the star-inspired cast perform their own play for the director who lives above them. Ramona Lomba, who played Kate Ault, looks into her crystal ball while Larry Kirkland and Jesus Corpus argue over what time dinner is to be served. The director, Mr. John Cotter, led the entire play to its great success. He has had much experience with our school's dramatic endeavors, as he is Chairman of the Drama and English Department. RIGHT: Mr. Cotter becomes rather exasperated at a technical delay on opening night; luckily the delay was a minor one, quickly resolved, and the play went off right on schedule.

JET Rooters Inspired By Spirited Cheers

An integral part of Campus Life at Encinal is the athletic program. This past year the cheerleaders displayed a supreme effort to rally the students' attendance and support for our athletic endeavors.

Complete victory became the Fall cheerleaders' hope as, with the help of assistant Joyce Blankenship, they cheered the football team on to six wins and three losses.

Activities outside of games included two exchange assemblies. The first was the annual rally with Encinal's rival, Alameda High. Later on in the season the cheerleaders traveled to Richmond High for a rally preceding the last game of the teams.

With the Alumni game came the exchange of cheerleaders. With unfailing spirit the Spring cheerleaders, with assistant Jackie McCullough, gave strong support to a team which had a fair season in basketball.

During their term the Spring cheerleaders gave complete support to Spirit Week and attended a cheerleader convention with other Bay Area schools.

CONNIE RAVEY, RENEE Higgins, and Charlene Kasdorf, TOP, review a step included in one of their numerous routines which were performed on stage.

LYNN DAVIDIAN BECOMES so absorbed in watching a football maneuver, she forgets that she is wearing gloves and starts to bite her fingernails.

PREPARING TO PERFORM at the annual Encinal-Alameda exchange assembly, Zee Zee Byrns and Debbie Plymate, BOTTOM, discuss their appearance.

Feminine Talent and Beauty Fill Assemblies

Highlighting the annual event of Homecoming Week was the crowning of the Football Queen. Preparations started as the Senior boys of the Varsity team voiced their nominations for a queen, followed by a vote taken from all boys at EHS.

The queen and her assistants were first crowned on stage by Mr. Brandes where each assistant was given a single red rose, presented by her escort, and the queen a special bouquet of red roses. The girls were again crowned by Mayor William McCall during half-time ceremonies at the Encinal-Alameda game.

Entertainment and spirit at football games and basketball games sprang from Encinal's 1967-1968 Pom-pon girls as they led their routines and cheers. With blue outfits for the assistants and white for the head, the EHS Pom-pon girls took part in half-time exercises along with the band and performed at several assemblies.

SHOUTS ROSE FROM the crowd as the JETS made their touchdown at the Encinal-Alameda game. The half-time score, JETS 7, Hornets 6.

A Valiant Effort on the Field Bows to an Undefeated Rival

Determined to break Alameda's tradition of victory at the Encinal-Alameda game and determined to further our winning streak one notch, the JETS came out fighting, and the student body came out cheering for the annual cross-town rival game.

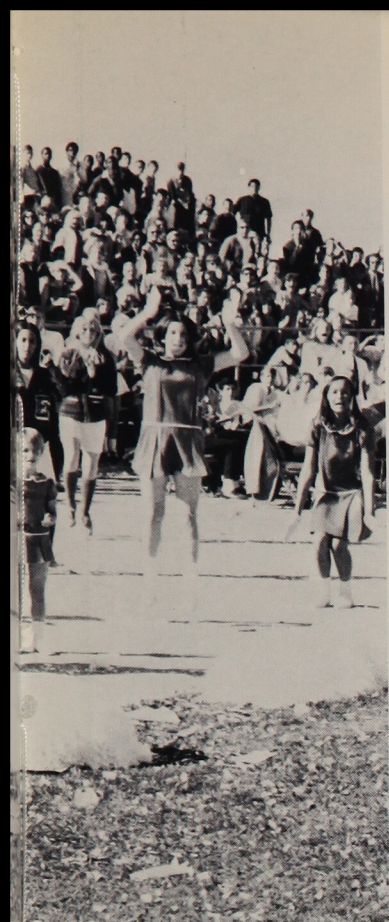

A pathway formed by Encinal's marching band and a banner reading "Beat the Hornets" provided an opening for the JETS to sprint onto the field for the beginning of the game.

Spirit soared as the JETS pulled ahead of the Hornets at the close of the first half with the score 7-6. Cheers and applause rose as the queen and her attendants stepped onto the field to be crowned and congratulated by Mayor William McCall.

The second half came and was packed with action as the JETS no longer led but trailed the Hornets and stayed behind through the rest of the game, the final score being 26-7. Once more the Hornets walked away with a victory, but Encinal came away with the satisfaction that they had at least put up a tough fight.

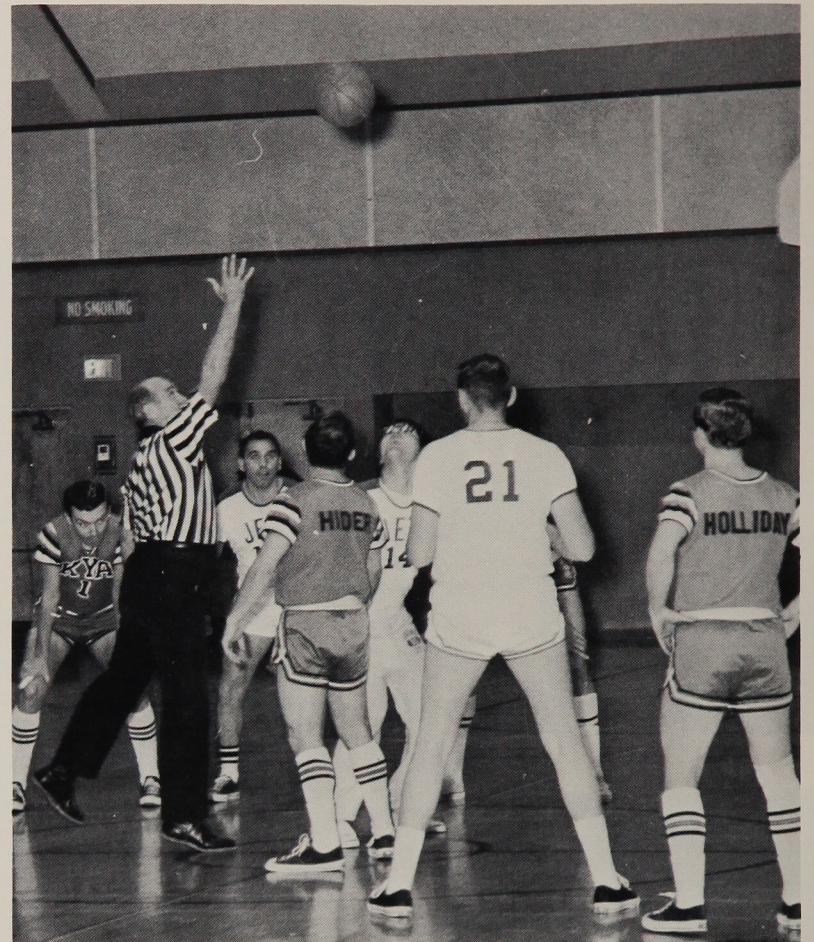

ENCINCAL'S ROYCE FORD is tackled in the end zone points.

KYA Oneders Bring Defeat to Faculty With 93-91 Score

A new activity was held this year as the Encinal student body hosted a KYA Oneder game in the gymnasium. January 29 brought students and adults alike to watch the Faculty match their skills against the almost undefeated Oneders.

Encinal took an early lead with the remaining game being one of ties and leads for both teams, ending with the close score of 93-91. Again the KYA Oneders remained undefeated. Mr. Johns and Mr. Rebensdorf were high scorers for the Faculty, while Rick Barry piled up points during his brief periods of playing during the game.

Approximately 700 were in attendance for the big game, making a profit of $364. These funds were divided between AFS, the Model UN trip to Washington, D.C. and the treasury of the Encinal High School student body.

Christmas Spirit Invades Assembly

The ending of each year brings with it the annual Christmas Pageant at Encinal.

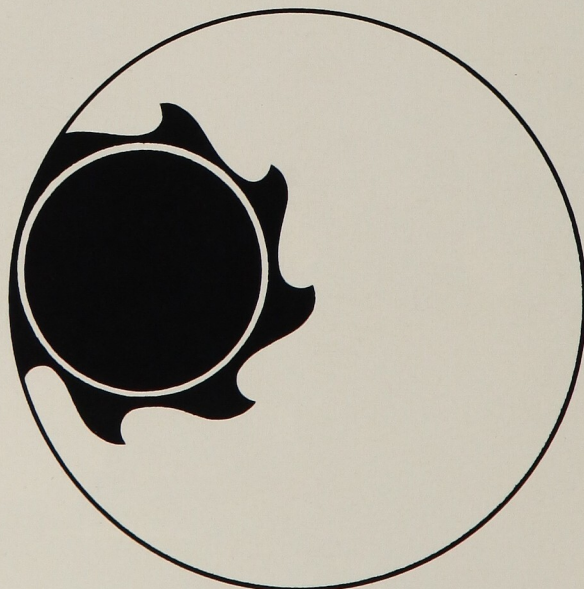

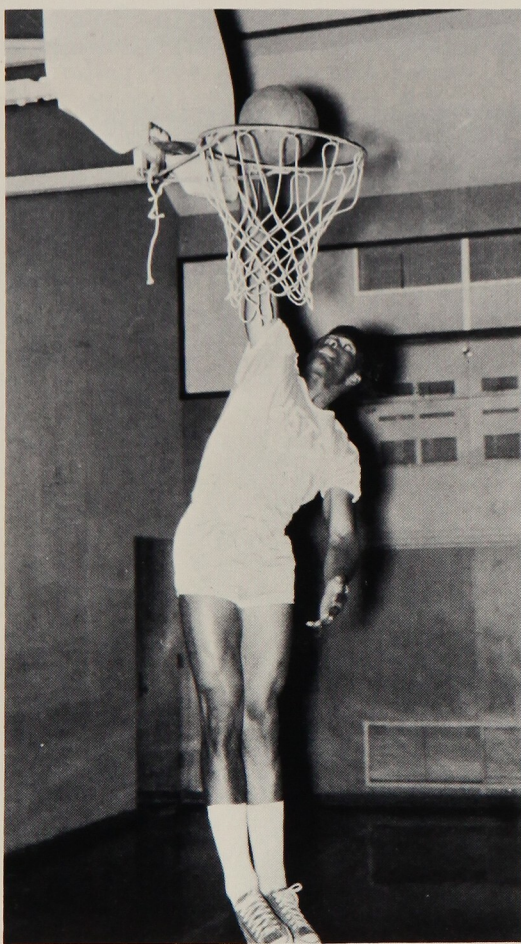

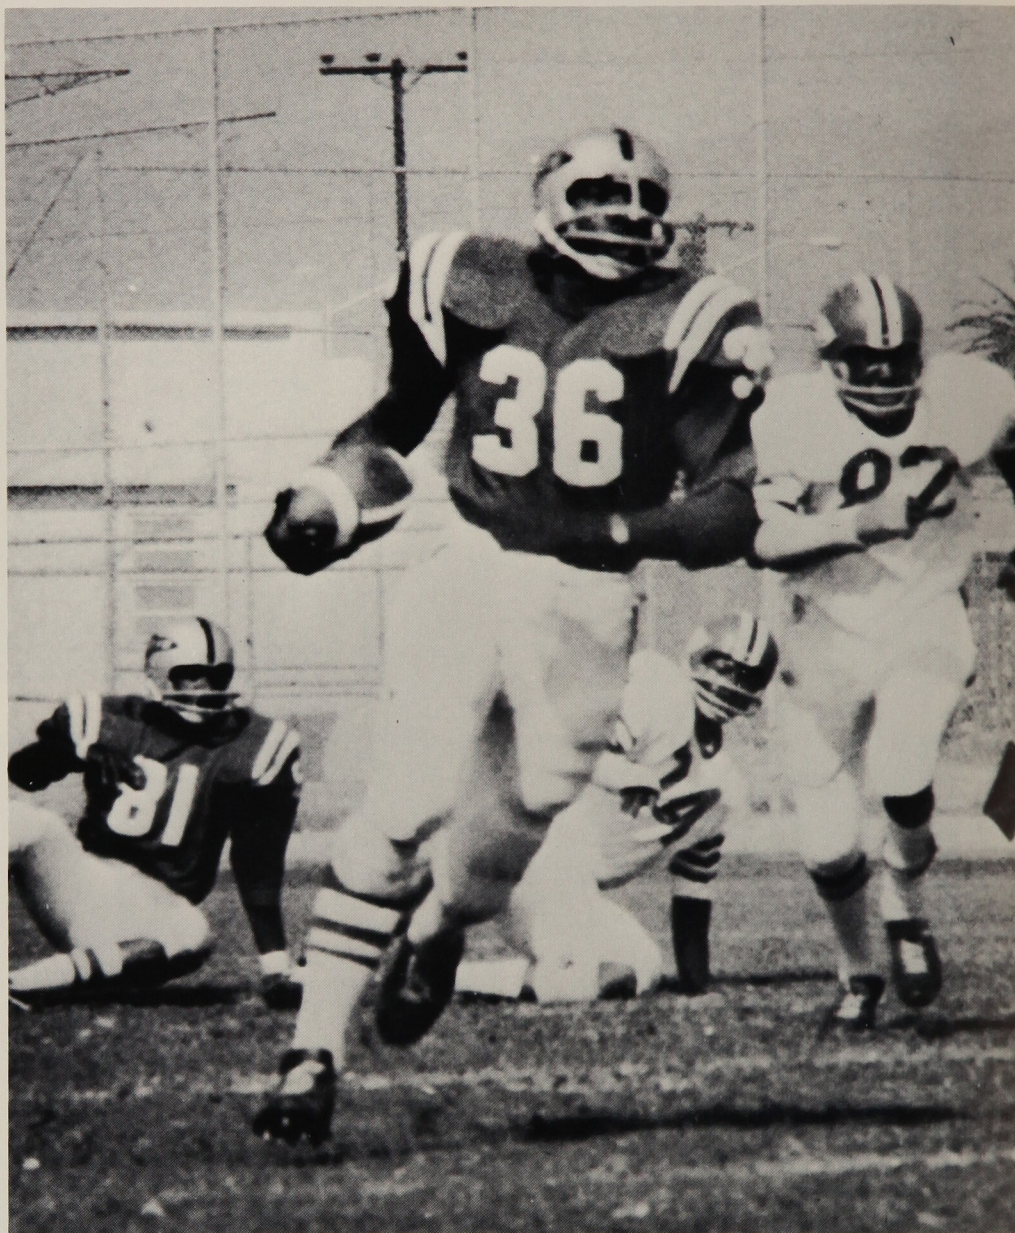

Performances this year included the Modern Dance and Advanced Modern Dance classes who performed their interpretations to the rhythms of "We Three Kings," "What Child Is This," and "Sleigh Ride."

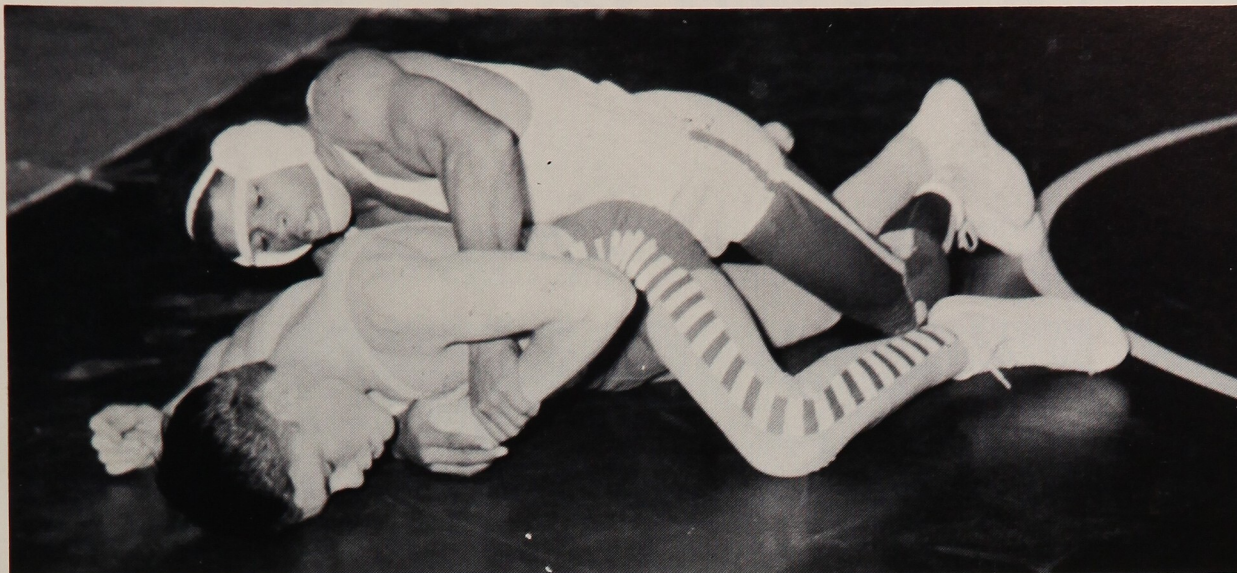

Many students also took part in the pageant as they performed with the orchestra, band, choir and Encinettes. Their numbers included "Jingle Bells," "Do You Hear What I Hear," "Silver Bells," and "Winter Wonderland."

Dramatic talents were portrayed by the Advanced Drama class who performed a play written by one of their students—a new interpretation of "'Twas the Night Before Christmas."

ENCINAL'S ANNUAL CHRISTMAS assembly showed different kinds of talent. TOP LEFT: the Modern Dance Class, directed by Miss Leach, performs their version of "We Three Kings." Connie Ravey, Nina Taylor and Trudy Padilla are the kings. Falling down a chimney, LEFT, is not always the easy trick it is cracked up to be. Harold James, our own Santa, experiences the painful truth. Mrs. Reminton's choir, LOWER LEFT, performed, singing many old-time favorites. BOTTOM: Mary Ann Mitchell, Pam Chinn and Connie Ravey prance and stomp, impatiently waiting for Santa to get started on his rounds.

ENCINAL'S DONALD HUNTER breaks loose from hard tackling Viking for twelve yards and an Encinal first down before being brought down. Hunter, Hayes and Haymon proved to be too much as Encinal won 26-0.

Skill and Agility Bring JETS to Victory

FLEET-FOOTED HALFBACK Don Gaither takes a pitch from quarterback Raynor and sweeps right, as Bob McNeil prepares to throw a hard block.

Under the direction of a new coaching staff, the Encinal JETS fought with determination and spirit throughout the 1967 football season which led to a winning record of 6-3.

Headed by Coach "Chuck" Butler, the other assistant coaches, David Johns, line coach; George Reed, backfield coach; Jim Kruse and Dick Gorman, all-around helpers; combined to form an all new offense and a new system to honor outstanding defensive players by awarding them stars. This year's team pushed forward to a higher standing in the ACAL league than in seven years.

Gaining experience in skills and techniques for the finer arts of football was the goal of the junior-varsity and frosh-soph teams this year.

Although their season was heavy with losses, the junior-varsity retained the spirit that symbolized most of Encinal's athletic endeavors.

The starting quarterback, David Raynor, was put out of commission at the beginning of the season with a broken ankle. Ken Sue aptly replaced him in the remaining games.

Runners Sprint to Reach New Heights

Under the direction of a new coach, Mr. King, the cross country runners ran two to three miles after school every day that weather permitted. The training program was difficult and the runners could usually be seen running about the school or around the track.

Mr. King believed in running with the boys and did so quite often, pushing the boys to their highest possible potential. As a first year coach, Mr. King gave the team much needed encouragement and enthusiasm.

The varsity runners placed sixth in ACAL with outstanding performances from Karl Brandes, David Ganser, Walter Mast, Phil McEachern, Dan Moore, and Jim Orlando.

Individual Stars Promote Spirit To Build Team

This year's varsity basketball team had a number of hard fought games under the direction of new head coach, Mr. Paul Foster. Returning for his third year of varsity basketball was senior Donald Hunter. The 6'2" tall Hunter gave needed height and rebounding ability to the team.

Another standout was junior Royce Ford, who at 6'2", was the starting center and proved valuable in both rebounding and scoring.

At starting guards were Larry Wayne and Rick Fenstermaker. The one-two scoring punch of Fenstermaker's jump shot, and Wayne's ball handling and driving ability provided many points for the JETS.

ROYCE FORD JUMPS high to spear a rebound. Ford's rebounding ability was vital in all Encinal games. His finest performance came against Richmond where he had 20 points and 17 rebounds.

SOPHOMORE GUARD, RICK Fenstermaker was always on the go and continually practiced to keep pace on the Varsity Team.

Newcomers Win Meet; Matmen Show High Record

Though many players from last year's team were lost, the JETS still were able to win meets and bring their final dual-meet record to a respectable standing in the ACAL. Coached by Dick Gorman, wrestling has continued to be a popular sport at Encinal. Some of the top point getters for the JETS this year were Roy Bisi, Richard Cruz, Steve Hayes, Tony Palmer, Dave Parent, Andres Sablan, and Mike Wilson.

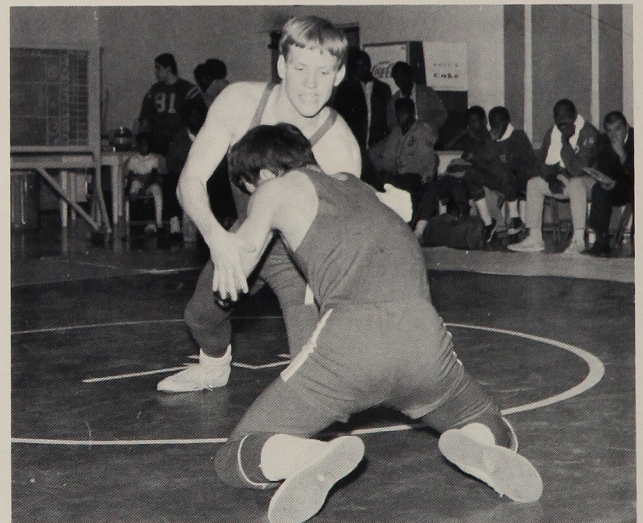

The first year JETS started out by winning the Bay Area Novice held at Encinal in December. JV wrestlers show great promise for future varsity.

RICHARD CRUZ, 120 pound varsity wrestler, is shown taking down his Berkeley opponent. Cruz went on to pin his man and add 5 points towards another JETS' victory.

GAA'ers Participate In Sports, Activities

The Girls' Athletic Association, sponsored by Mrs. Phyllis De La Vergne, has grown into one of the biggest organizations at Encinal. Meeting as a regular class every day during eighth period, the girls combined an active sports program with social functions and service.

GAA'ers had opportunities to participate in such sports as swimming, tennis, modern dance, rhythmic gymnastics, golf, riflery, volleyball, bowling, and archery. Points could be earned toward a Block E, the girls' sports letter.

Members of GAA took part in playdays at neighboring schools. They also sponsored and hosted one at Encinal.

This year started and ended with much excitement. Initiation for new members was held in the fall, an annual Christmas party was given, candy was sold to help support the Korean child, and a spring spread was held to honor graduating seniors.

GOVERNMENT

The ability to work with Others and to become a Responsible citizen rises as Students take an active Part in school government.

Principal Mr. Brandes Worked Towards A Better School For All Of Encinal's Students

As the sun sets on the past it shines brightly ahead on the future. As we look back we have every reason to be proud of our school. We can be proud of our outstanding faculty and the fine school program geared to meet the needs of our students. We can be proud of our fine athletic teams who have competed and posted victories over teams from schools with two and three times the enrollment of our school. We can be proud of the preparation provided our students to face the years ahead.

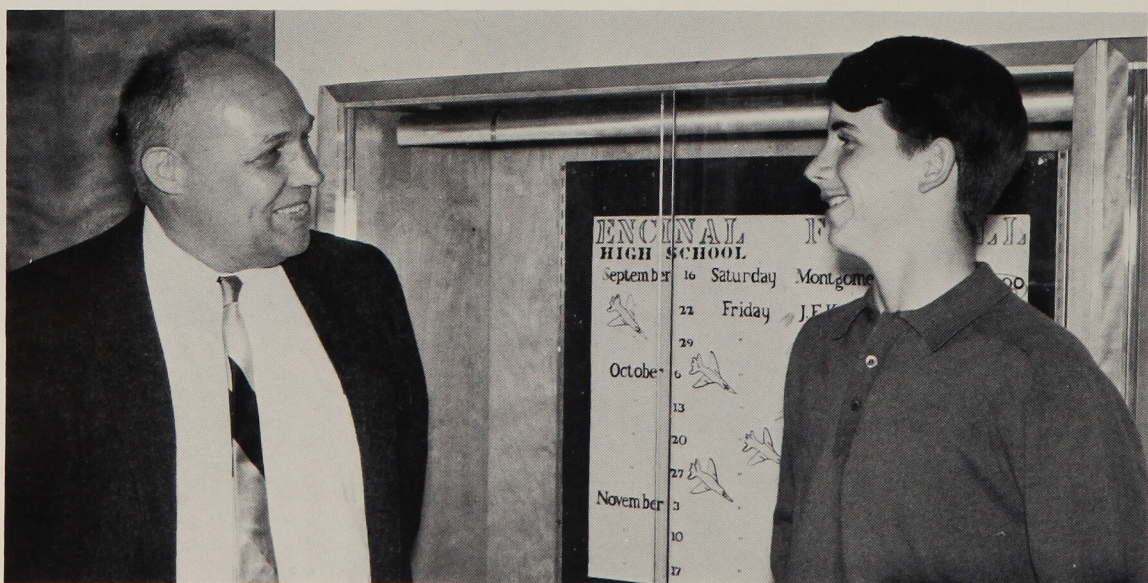

We can be very proud of our outstanding yearbooks. Each year we have learned to expect a bigger and better yearbook. Our yearbook this year is the best. The HORIZON staff has most adequately preserved a chapter of your life at Encinal High School.

As the sun sets on the 1967-68 school year at Encinal High School, its rays are rising on the even brighter chapter ahead.

Louis Grant Brandes

EACH MORNING DURING advisory period Mr. Brandes sees to it that the bulletin is read and that other important announcements of student concern are presented.

DISCUSSING THE GOOD opening record of the EHS football team are Mr. Brandes and junior George Nelson. The JETS set new school records this year as they came back to finish in the top half of the ACAL conference at the end of the season.

WORKING IN THE interest of all Alameda students by improving school-community relationships were this year's Board of Education members Mr. Frank Weeden, Mr. C. R.

Bartalini, Mr. A. L. Ramsden, Mr. Jack Lubbock and Mrs. Lee Cavanaugh.

The Board Planned For Student Safety

Community problems, new programming and various administrative duties kept the board busy as they met in the administrative buildings every month.

One of the main issues confronting the board was what should be done about those schools that were not up to earthquake standards. Realizing that their decision would affect many people, the board spent many hours debating what should be done.

In planning for the future of students, the Board of Education advised Alameda schools on new types of curriculums that were available. The board often visited various schools to offer help in administration and to keep improving the relationship between schools and community. Progress in new programs and IBM programming aided the schools' program.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS Doctor Donald Roderick speaks each year to the graduating students of EHS to encourage them to continue their education.

VICE PRINCIPALS MR. Hanna and Miss Shockey discuss an immediate problem of discipline that concerns the student body of Encinal.

Both Vice Principals Played Important Parts In The Everyday Work Of Helping Students

Two important administrators, Miss Shockey and Mr. Hanna, aided tremendously in the tasks of maintaining student discipline. In dealing with the conduct of over eleven hundred students, it was sometimes necessary to draw the line and correct individuals. As advisors of the men's and women's Boards of Control, they saw to it that each member did his part in keeping order at assemblies and other school functions. Miss Shockey and Mr. Hanna also helped in planning the annual BOC picnic.

Key club supervisor, Mr. Hanna, was kept very busy seeing that all club activities ran smoothly. Along with working closely with Mr. Brandes, Miss Shockey and Mr. Hanna also attended PTA meetings and chaperoned school dances.

VICE PRINCIPAL MR. Hanna and junior Bill Walber discuss student activities planned for the coming year at EHS.

AS SUPERVISOR OF the women's Board of Control Vice Principal, Miss Shockey, informs new member Marjorie Turnes of the girls' uniform and the BOC rules.

Class Counselors Gave Much Personal Attention To Student Programming

With the help of the new career files the counselors aided the students in selecting the type of career in which they were interested. Through the use of the current college catalogs the counselors made students aware of the college requirements.

Tailoring individual plans to fit individual aptitudes was an important job of the counselors. The counselors administered aptitude tests that would measure the students' skills and abilities. Such a test was the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test given to juniors. Test scores, previous grades and student desires helped the counselor plan high school programs.

Work experience programs and jobs in the Neighborhood Youth Corps were available through the counselors' office.

CHECKING THROUGH MASSES of papers that were involved in the new IBM programming, administering tests and giving scholarship information were just part of Miss Wann's job as head counselor this year at Encinal High School.

TAKING TIME TO discuss the many problems counselors are faced with in the new method of IBM programming are freshman counselor Mrs. King and senior counselor Mr. Yeoman.

BEFORE BEGINNING HIS busy day as sophomore class counselor, Mr. Bay made it a habit to check his mailbox for new material which would help him in his job as counselor.

JUNIOR JACKIE VALERGA and her counselor Mr. Croll discuss a problem of the IBM programming method.

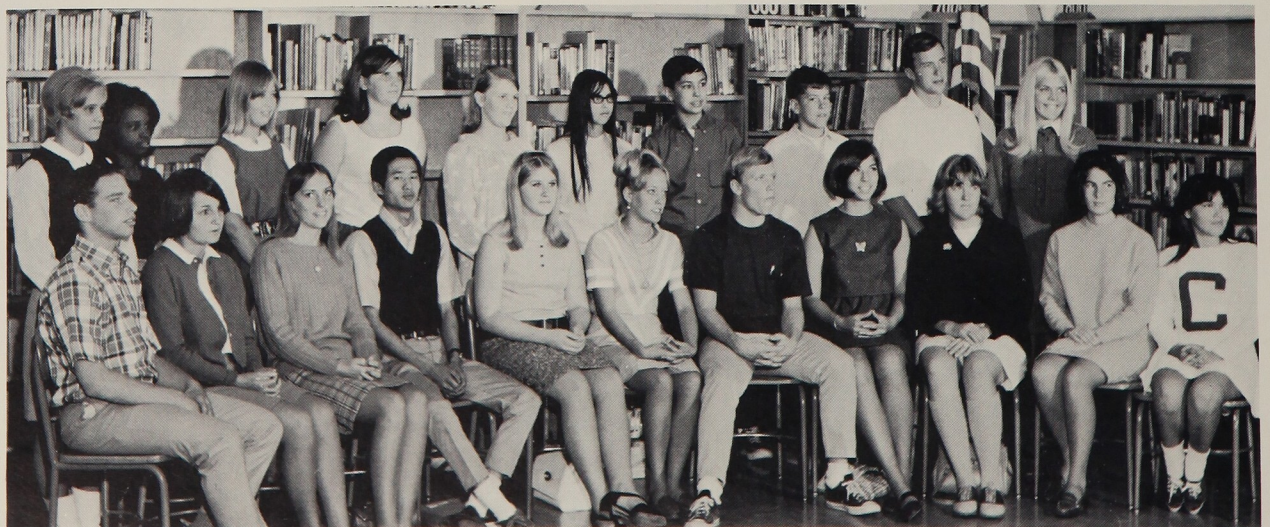

MIKE WALSH, SPRING student body president, receives support and encouragement from Frank Gumpert, fall student body president. Sitting off to one side, Trudy Padilla, spring student body vice-presi-

Student Government Concerning EHS

PAM CHINN, SPRING head cheerleader, and Sue Harader, fall head cheerleader, take time out from practicing their vigorous routines to strike a pose over the school seal. The main hall was the scene of many such practices this year.

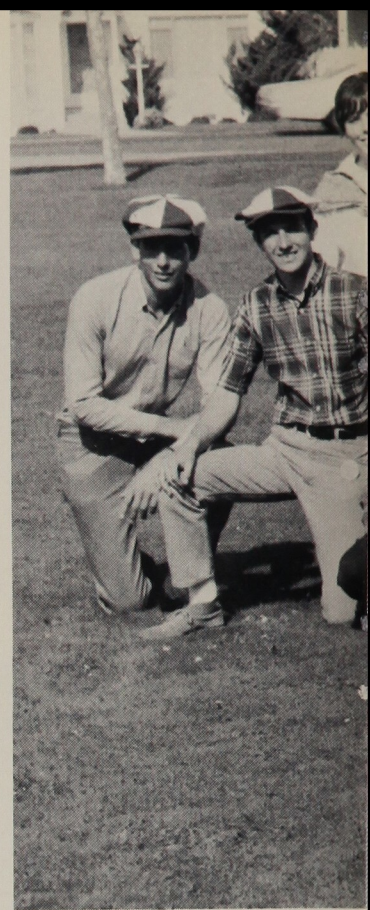

Through the capacity of student officers and representatives in student council, students actively participated in the government of EHS. Led by the student body officers, the student council was very busy. The representatives worked hard to provide successful fall and spring opening dances for EHS students. In the early fall a committee was formed to purchase a new senior bench. The ROTC was given the responsibility for taking the bench inside the building each night. Election campaigns were organized and posters accepted by the student council. By actively participating, students acquired and maintained a smooth running school atmosphere throughout the year.

Participating In Student Government Board of Control Strove to Keep A Tradition of Orderly Assemblies

Acting somewhat as policemen, the Board of Control helped in the government of Encinal. Upholding Encinal's reputation for having orderly assemblies was one of the BOC's chief duties. A student court was held after each assembly with the BOC officers acting as judges.

The BOC had many other responsibilities. They supervised athletic events by keeping order in the stands and bleachers. Cracking down on the litter problem meant that each member tried to prevent students from becoming careless with their paper. The BOC was also responsible for seeing that students did not sit on lockers or in any other way destroy school property.

After much discussion it was decided that the girls would like a change of uniform for the spring semester. In place of the white middie, dark skirt and scarf, blue culotte jumpers with a white blouse were worn during the second semester.

DURING THEIR TERM of office the fall and spring directors Liz Garber, Monica Corson, Kenn Van Cleave, Steve Perry, Guia Academia, and Dolores Canalin, held many such meetings to discuss and plan the activities and publicity of Encinal.

Sports, Publicity and Activity were the titles of the new student directories this year at Encinal. The purpose of these offices was to improve student participation. As student officers worked together to plan activities, they saw to it that these activities were effectively publicized.

Consisting of a cross-section of teachers and students, the Student-Faculty Committee met each Friday morning to discuss assembly plans. They arranged for a speaker on education, a concert pianist, the EHS talent show and the exchange talent show. Criticisms were heard in order to avoid mistakes. Both students and teachers worked together to provide the best possible entertainment for the student body of Encinal High.

Parents and Teachers Constantly Strove For Better Relationships

AS PRESIDENT OF this year's PTA Mrs. Lucero was kept very busy seeing that all of the PTA's plans, activities and special programs were carried out efficiently and successfully.

"Parent-Teacher Concerns Encompass Youth" was the theme for this year's PTA. Working around this idea, the PTA strove to acquire a closer relationship between parents and teacher. This year the PTA held parents' night in the fall in order to acquaint the parents with this year's school program and give them an early opportunity to meet the faculty.

Two awards dinners were held this year in order to include more sports activities. Jutta Kronsbein, Encinal's AFS exchange student, told of her life in Germany and her experiences in the United States before one of the spring PTA meetings. A salad bar, a rummage sale and a founders' day program were all part of the PTA's many activities this year.

MEMBERS OF THIS year's PTA executive board were Mrs. E. Walser, Mrs. L. Littlejohn, Mrs. C. Tremain, Mrs. J. N. Wolf, Mrs. V. Miner, Mrs. W. A. Skaar and Mrs. E. E. Sandahl.

MANY PARENTS AND teachers attended PTA meetings this year in order to become more aware of the activities of the school.

Food, IBM and Lawns Were Very Important To People Serving E H S

Serving Encinal were the nurse, the librarian assistant, the office staff, the cafeteria staff, and the custodians. These people worked towards an efficient and smooth-running school.

While the nurse repaired minor problems of students, the librarian assistant repaired textbooks. The office staff worked closely with the administrative staff. They played a big part in preparing IBM program cards. The cafeteria staff saw that students had a good lunch each day. Maintaining an attractive school ground was one of the important jobs of the custodians.

MEMBERS OF THE office staff Mrs. Georgia Slaymaker, Mrs. June Frazier, Mrs. Lola Crittenden and Mrs. Marjorie Mathieson were all essential to the functioning of EHS.

IN GIVING EYE and ear tests to students at Encinal, nurse Frieda Forselles is involved with many students' files.

SURROUNDED BY MANY text books and library books in need of repair, librarian assistant Miss Scott was kept very busy this year at EHS.

ECHO, HORIZON Staffs Strive

AN ECHO REPORTER, Monica Corson interviews John James, vice president, about the responsibilities of being the vice president of the student body.

THE ECHO CLASS admires and criticizes the ECHO during seventh period in order to produce a more interesting and meaningful paper for the students of Encinal.

SEEING OTHER STUDENTS' work often inspires new ideas. Steve Beer, assistant editor of the HORIZON, shows HORIZON class an All American Yearbook.

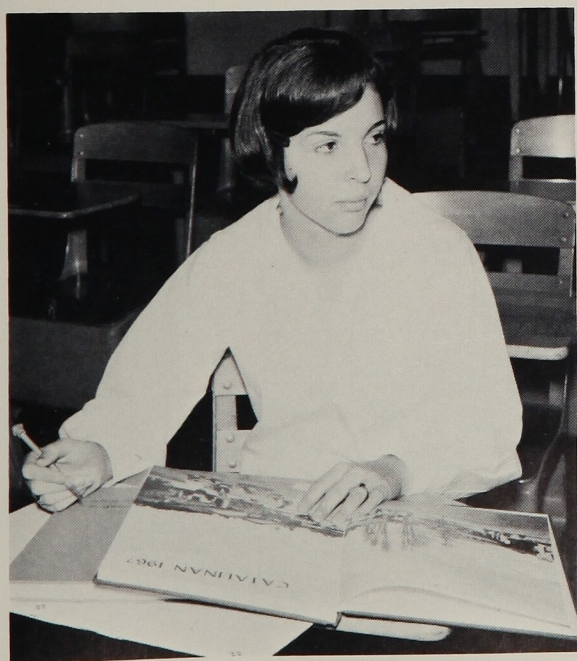

EDITORS AND CO-EDITORS of the HORIZON get together to work out one of the many problems of the HORIZON. Larry Kirkland, art editor, looks on and gives his opinion as new ideas are being brought up and discussed.

To Earn Highest National Ratings

WHILE TRYING TO think of a story for ECHO, Larry Chalip is interrupted by Liz Garber who asks Larry about facts for a story that she is writing.

WORKING AGAINST TIME Rose McKnight, HORIZON Editor, works thoughtfully to meet one of endless deadlines.

With the cooperation of Encinal students, the ECHO and HORIZON staffs were able to capture the memorable moments of each day throughout the year.

To contribute to the excellence of the ECHO were the editors, such as Pat Turner who received an honorable mention at the Journalism and Publications Conference in a newswriting contest. Much time and patience was spent in producing the first printed newspaper Encinal has had, and in attempting a weekly issue while the paper was mimeographed.

While working to meet the timeless deadlines, the HORIZON staff was striving to get an All-American rating, other than a first class, which was received for last year's yearbook. A third place trophy was received in the 1967 East Bay Journalism and Publications Conference. The staff strove for first place with the 1968 book.

With creative thinking, technical knowledge and pounds of perspiration, the HORIZON staff attempted to produce a prize winning yearbook.

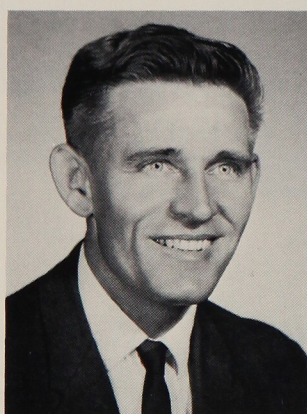

For those wishing to probe into the deeper secrets of the world around them, Encinal offered laboratory science, biology, chemistry, and physics. The students were able to understand the scientific methods taught in the book by putting them to use with individual work in our new laboratory.

With the many formulas to be found, Encinal students searched deeper into the field of science with daily support from skillful science teachers.

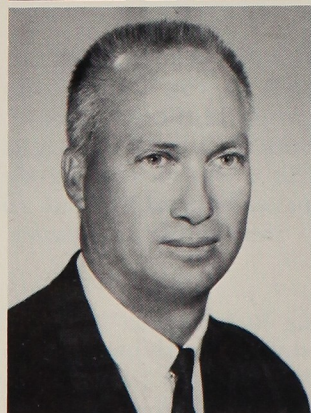

Along with science came the world of math. For interested students Encinal offered a four year math plan. The geometry course was specially designed for those who delighted in drawing circles, triangles, and other weird figures while memorizing all different equations.

Those students who were not satisfied with three years of math could take the risk of being charmed by strange trigonometric functions.

With the courses offered in the field of mathematics, students were exposed to the field of technology that involves a vast amount of knowledge in today's modern world.

Maria Bryant

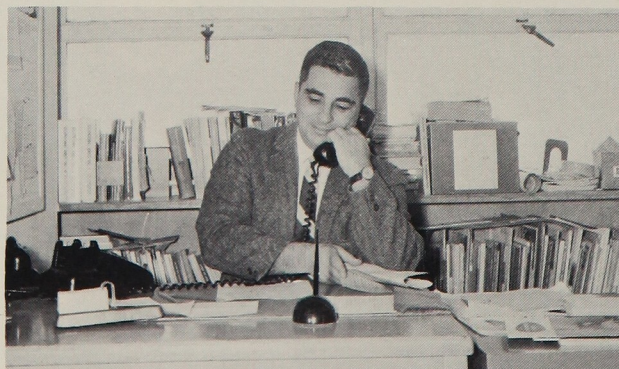

CHECKING FINAL LAYOUTS to meet coming deadlines for the HORIZON kept Mrs. Houck busy for many hours. She also handled the ECHO and English classes during other periods.

Many opportunities were open to students who wished to expand their skills in the language field. Along with traditional English, students could expand in foreign languages as well as drama and journalism. Some students in English classes participated in community writing contests and brought Encinal honors.

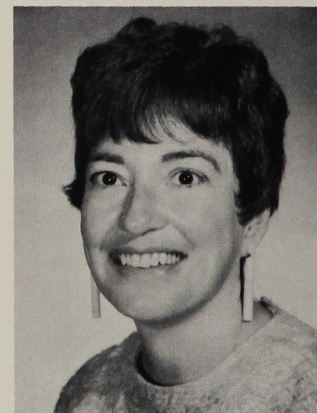

New for the students use this year was a reading lab and resource room which they could visit at different intervals during the year in order to improve their reading skills. Modern methods of English were studied by Encinal's teachers at meetings to plan new curriculum.

History Courses Build New Interests

This year the history department provided students an opportunity to gain a knowledge of the past along with a well-rounded look at the present. New to the history students this year was the team teaching system which enabled the students to be instructed at intervals by three different teachers during the year.

Seniors were not only given the opportunity to learn about their own country's government, but they learned about other countries as well. In addition, seniors took economics.

MR. WINBERG LECTURES to his government class about political structure and the many different facets of the government. Mr. Haberberger records some data he wishes to impart to his government class in the next classroom discussion. Mr. Haberberger also takes time to be the director of the all school play.

MR. KING TEACHES government as well as current affairs to interested students. "A benefit of teaching is to continue my own education," said Mr. King. Mrs. King also teaches government and doubles as a freshman counselor.

New Machines, Ideas, Prepare Students

Encinal High School has excelled in the field of business this year. The most modern methods possible were used in order to help students acquire a better understanding of the ever changing business world. Mrs. Fellingner feels a great part of her job "is to prepare the students to obtain jobs." Her office practice class helped the students to become familiar with electric machines ranging from adding machines to dictaphones.

One of the newest concepts this year was in the stenography department. The students were able to take dictation up to one hundred words per minute with the aid of a recording system which was controlled by the teacher at her desk.

THE MIMEOGRAPH MACHINE which is being run by Mrs. Fellingner was just one of the many electric machines in office practice where students learned the workings of various machines for practical experience.

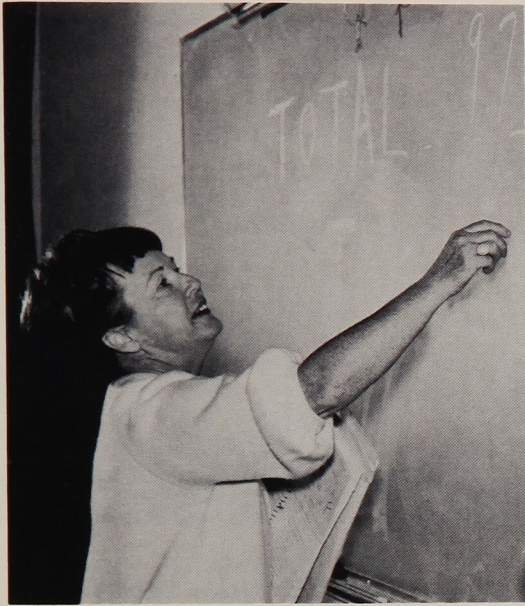

STUDENTS IN TYPING were given many opportunities to continue learning items in office work.

Instructors Bring Ideas, New Activities

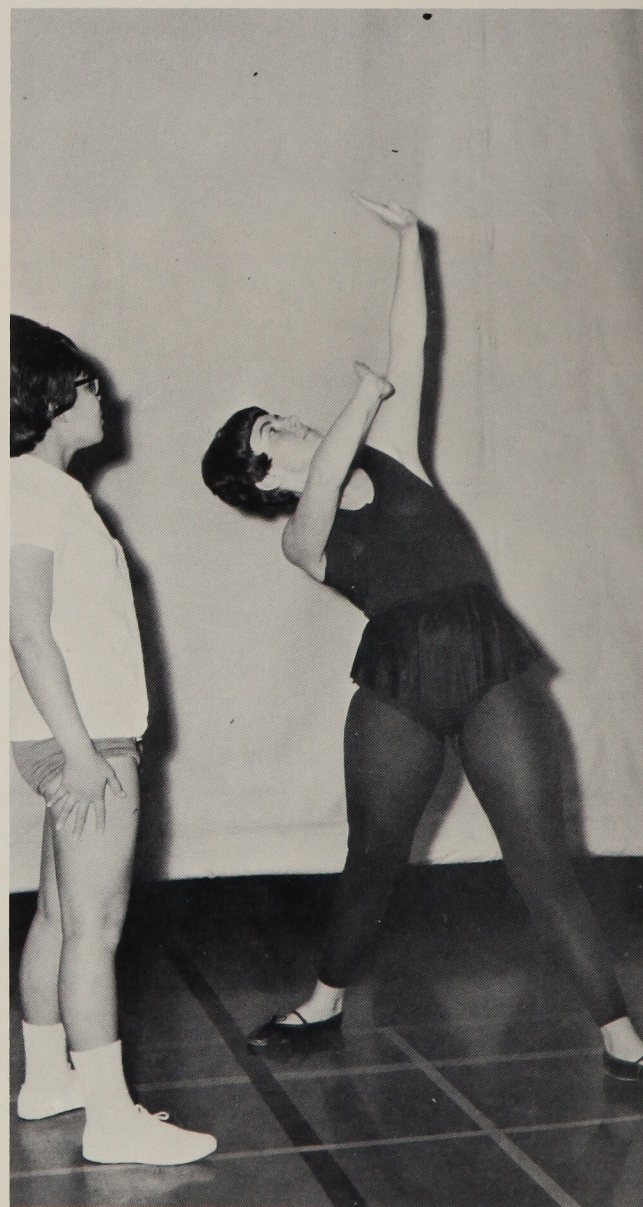

The activities offered by the physical education department gave students the chance to develop their physical abilities as well as their sportsmanship. These programs were designed to help the students where help was needed and to enable them to improve in areas of their own choice. In a special six week course Miss Leach taught modern dance to physical education students as well as GAA'ers.

Senior girls in GAA with high grades were offered the chance to take a course in riflery. This was a special class which was new to Encinal and instructions were given by Sergeant Lambert.

Both physical education and GAA girls participated in a nation-wide physical fitness test. Juniors took a course in first aid which provided them with a basic knowledge of first aid as well as the dangers of marijuana and LSD.

BEING CHAUFFEURED AROUND town was a regular part of Mr. Johns' driver training courses which he instructed as well as PE.

A FOOTBALL SEASON with more wins was enjoyed by the new head football coach, Mr. Butler.

Art, Music, School Services Complete

DURING A PRACTICE session, the band takes a little time out while they are being given marching instructions by Mr. James Hewitt, who is seen standing on the bench.

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Mrs. Marjorie Remington, the choir did more work at reading music and less actual performing.

ENCINAL'S LIBRARIAN, Miss Pageau kept a neat, quiet library.

MRS. NICOSIA IS showing Steve Angelo the different effects and designs of patterns and material for a difficult painting assignment in her advanced art class.

ENJOYING THE COMPOSITION of a new song and rehearsing it for enjoyment are Mrs. Remington and Mr. Hewitt in the music department.

Encinal's Expanded Liberal Arts Program

The Encinal marching band, and a new addition to the band this year, the letter girls, highlighted every away and home football game by marching at half time. Also new this year were entertainment acts at half time accompanied by the band. The acts ranged from hillbilly square dancers to matadors and senioritas.

Along with Mrs. Nicosia, art teacher, the school service art group had a busy schedule to fill this year. They not only made almost all posters for advertising purposes and football games, but also they designed and made bids for school dances.

The choir, directed by Mrs. Remington, performed at an inter-faith assembly at Saint Joseph's for Thanksgiving and also participated in the annual Christmas assembly and spring concert. The choir's goal, which required more work, was to read music.

STANDING IN THE FORMATION of an "E" representing ENCINAL and playing the school hymn, the band is accompanied by the letter girls.

THE FRESHMAN BAND, sitting in a semi-circle, are Dina Wideman, Allan Good, Ricky Gilmore, Ken Sabo, Paul Penderess, Raul Tuazon, Ron Macesille, Howard Blea.

New Classes Stimulate Vocational Skills

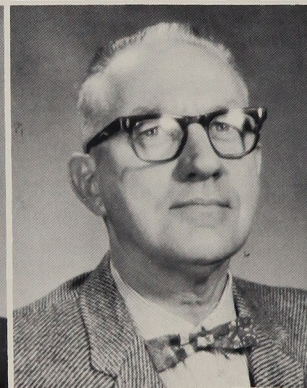

Practical skills are skills offered in the fields of architecture, homemaking, mechanics and carpentry which will be of use to the students in their everyday lives as they develop into young men and women.

Mrs. Takash not only taught cooking, sewing and housekeeping to girls but also handled a boys' cooking class. Mrs. Takash said, "They're really terrific—a little on the noisy side but well disciplined and very cooperative."

The ROTC under the command of Sergeant Lambert was a full program this year. The ROTC boys raised the school flag every morning and performed so well that the color guard took first place in the Alameda County Veteran's Day Parade, and the drill team was the only team selected to be on TV.

Encinal Service Club Projects Aid School And Community Alike

Key club and "S" Club had no problems upholding their reputations this year as Encinal's most active clubs. Enthusiastic leadership was expressed by Key Club President Larry Kirkland and "S" Club President Kathy Twitchell who each gave their club a healthy push in the direction of a successful year.

Key Club, sponsored by the Alameda Kiwanians, initiated its new members along with the "S" Club's at a special luau held on the Whales' Tail Island during the fall. Hoping to motivate interest and perhaps contributions, Key Club sponsored a Project Hope movie for an October 26 assembly. October also found the Key Club busily preparing for their Halloween costumed dance, "The Great Pumpkin." A great pumpkin suspended from the ceiling served as the center of interest for the costumed figures of Sarah Delmore as Crystal Lil, Larry Kirkland as Diamond Jim, Marjorie Turnes as a clown and David Purbeck as a ballerina.

"S" Club, sponsored by the Alameda Soroptimists, spent an equally active year. A fall cake sale helped to pad its treasury by giving special holiday parties to the Special Class at Mastick school and preparing Christmas stockings for people in Convalescent homes. To benefit the AFS, "S" Club held its annual fashion show with Alameda High's "S" Club in May.

Joining forces, the Key Club and "S" Club painted addresses on curbs when the weather was good. In the Spring, the two clubs had a picnic and went on a ski week-end.

EHS Honor Societies Set High Standards

Recognition for academic standing was offered by two of Encinal's clubs, CSF, better known as the California Scholarship Federation and Sigma Epsilon. Although CSF membership was limited to students with an A- average, over 50 Encinal students qualified. Requirements for Sigma Epsilon remained a B plus average.

CSF'ers were not so busy studying that they did not have time for club activities. Members toured the Berkeley campus of the University of California, discussed college choices and sponsored an Easter candy sale and a CSF assembly in the spring. Members also found time to attend the annual CSF convention. Unselfish with their acquired knowledge, CSF members organized a noon-time tutoring program to help befuddled Encinal students. Sigma Epsilon sold Tootsie Roll Pops in the fall and held a barbecue in the spring.

and Spanish Spark Interest In Clubs

Foreign language interest stimulated persevering membership in Encinal's three language clubs, French, Latin and Spanish.

With its customary verve, the Latin Club participated in a Roman fashion show with Alameda High's Latin Club and sponsored a Christmas mistletoe sale. Springtime brought the traditional Latin banquet, anxiously awaited by members and anyone fortunate enough to attend as a guest. At this event advanced students may be seen parading in authentic Roman togas, as slaves follow the orders of citizens and senators by relaxing on cushions. Providing guidance and encouragement for fall projects and activities, Mrs. Beth Hegeman sponsored the group.

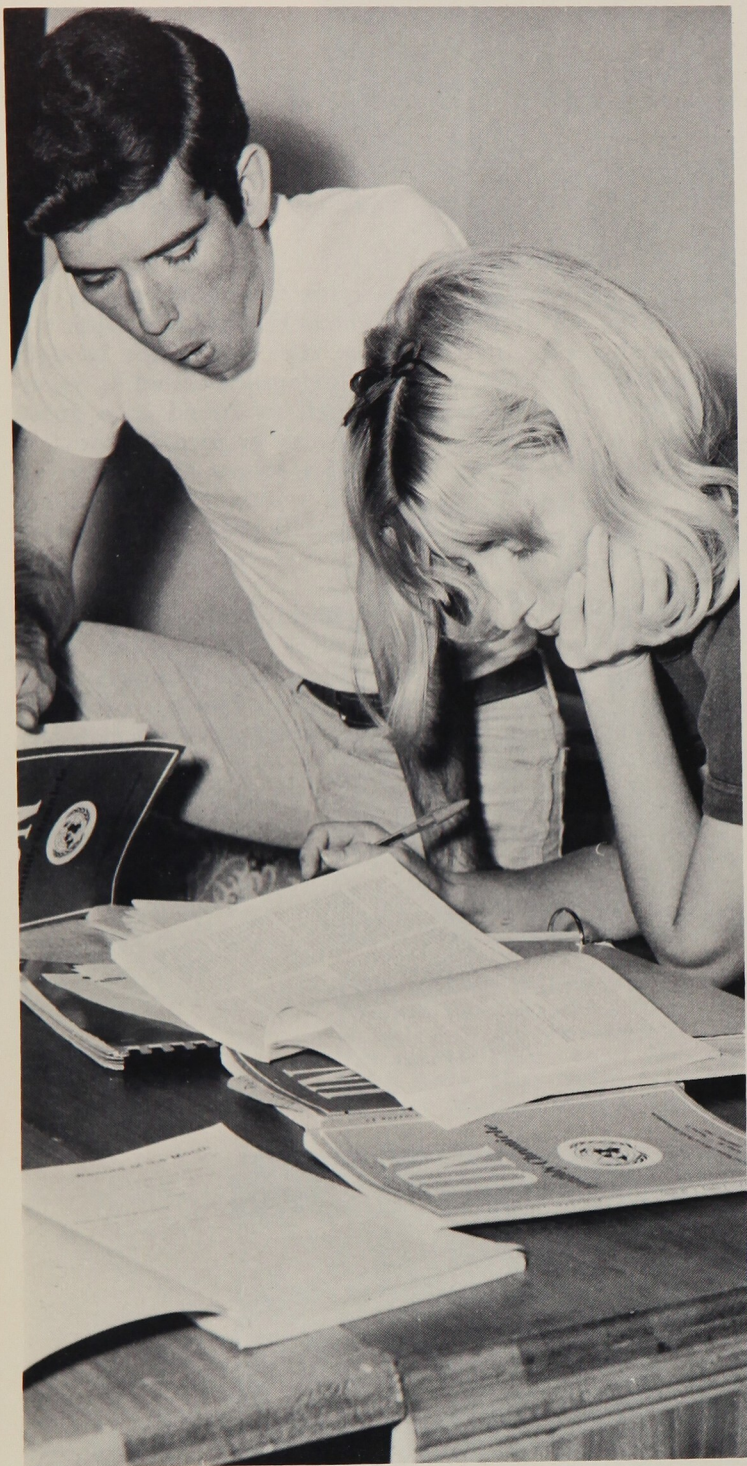

Trying once again for firm organization, the French and Spanish Clubs revitalized themselves. French Club made plans to visit the Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco and to attend a French play. Spanish Club advertised itself with eye-catching posters. A cupcake sale was held to raise money.

Maps and research materials were familiar tools to members.

Model UN Invited To D.C. Convention

Traditionally one of the largest and most active Model United Nations groups in Northern California, this year's Model UN was no exception. Under the spirited and devoted direction of Mr. Edwin Winberg, Model UN members met weekly to discuss Kenya, the country they represented at the annual High School Model UN convention held in February on the Berkeley campus of the University of California. The cost of this three day excursion was lessened by the Model UN's annual donkey basketball game held in February.

Active Model UN membership was no simple task, as many UN members will testify. Long hours were spent researching into Kenya's domestic problems, foreign affairs and race relations. However, members were equally willing to admit that being a member of Model UN was an enriching experience.

Students With Varied Interests Give Service And Gain Experience

Open to all students willing to take the time to help others was Encinal's chapter of Red Cross. This club labored consistently to serve community and nation by visiting hospital patients, preparing Christmas baskets, and sending gifts to servicemen and Vietnamese children.

Red Cross Club members worked closely with their Alameda chapter house by taking special courses designed to aid them in baby-sitting and other community services.

For students fascinated by the world of business, Junior Achievement provided an opportunity to delve into the processes of developing company charters, setting up by-laws and manufacturing a product.

Though their brows wrinkled with the graph line on their profit chart, Junior Achievers gained a clearer insight into the responsibility of initiative as well as the benefit of regular wages.

Students desiring to devote their spare time to musical pursuits were offered a variety of clubs by the music department. Time was no factor to members of the Folksinging club who came to school at 7:45 A.M. to entertain each other and exchange music. Many scheduled performances of the Encinettes, Encinal's female choral club, necessitated that they practice tri-weekly. At PTA meetings, student assemblies and Bay Area music festivals the Encinettes shared their voices with others. The newly formed Chamber Chorale, specializing in up to five part harmonies, provided a vocal outlet for both boys and girls.

Chi Mu Raises More Money

Chi Mu members organized many activities to raise money for Encinal's music department. A candy sale was held in January to pay for uniform expenses which consisted of new ties, and pep band hats.

The honorary music club is made up of students involved in performing groups at Encinal. Initiation for new members was held in October at Mr. Hewitt's house. The officers and older members of Chi Mu sponsored the important event.

To gain an insight into the important fields of education and homemaking many students joined the Future Teachers' and the Future Homemakers' clubs.

Boy, Girl Athletes Show Physical Skill, Prove Superiority By Earning Blocks

A respected accomplishment of Encinal athletes, both feminine and masculine, was the receiving of Block E's. Girls earned points toward a Block through regular participation in GAA athletics, activities and in recording scores at track and swim meets and basketball games. The boys accumulated points by the amount and quality of their participation in sports. Mrs. Lois Hambric sponsored Girls' Block E, while Mr. Charles Butler and Mr. Joseph King sponsored Boys' Block E.

Chess and Speech Clubs Gain In New Honors, Sponsors

Manipulating words and chessmen, members of the newly formed speech club under the direction of Mr. Anthony Sipp and the chess club with Mr. James Johnson as the new sponsor this year, enjoyed an organized year. Speech club members improved their speaking habits and gained confidence while participating in debating and individual speaking contests. Encinal's debaters placed high in the various meets they attended throughout the year.

Chess fanatics composing Encinal's chess club met every day during 5th and 6th lunches. Perhaps inspiring their devotion was the fact that skilled chess players could earn points toward a legitimate Block E.

Juniors excitedly and enthusiastically returned to Encinal last fall to help make their third year a successful and memorable one despite some obstacles.

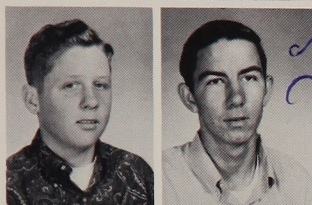

By having their council well represented, many successful events were held. Their first event was a cup cake sale held during Halloween, followed by a candy sale, and then a car wash. They also sold suckers and pennants. They sponsored an "Ugliest Couple" contest and pushed to reach the 100 per cent goal in student body card sales. But the most highlighted event of the year was the annual Junior Prom held late in April.

The juniors displayed their spirit during Spirit Week as they backed their class cheerleaders in their rahs and yells. By exhibiting loud and vivacious enthusiasm for spirit week, the juniors earned much respect from the other classes in school.

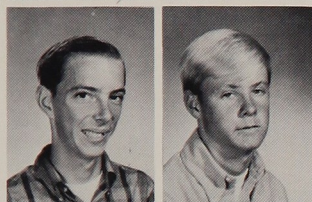

But the events the Junior class held throughout the past year were only examples of what they plan to do for their last and final year at Encinal High School as seniors.

Biology Proved to be Educational and Fun For the Class of '70

The sophomores, no longer the youngest class of Encinal High, fulfilled their aim to gain more money for their treasury and to display their spirit by having numerous successful events in which many class members participated. They held a cup cake sale, had a car wash, sold a variety of delicious candies, printed class cards, and attempted to have high student body card sales.

"Reflections," the title of the sophomores' annual Soph-Hop, displayed sophomore talents as they endeavored to host a dance that would be remembered. They overtly exposed zest and zeal during Spirit Week. These activities were possible because of hard work, accompanied by imaginative ideas and well planned advertisements.

But these activities did not keep the Class of '70 from their homework and class work, as they started planning for their junior year.

Bewildered, confused, and frightened, the freshmen started high school with orientation. This procedure attempted to acquaint the newcomers with Encinal, its curriculum and activities.

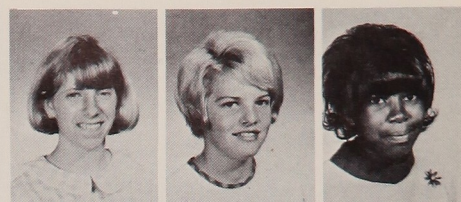

The Class of '71 demonstrated school spirit through their participation in yells at assemblies and Frosh-Soph games. They held the highest percentage in the school for student body card sales. The freshmen held a cup cake sale, a candy sale, and a car wash in order to raise money for their class treasury.

This had been a year for starting successful activities, adapting to a new phase of life in high school, and making friends. In the years to come, with the help of their sponsor, Mr. King, they hope to contribute to several school traditions and enjoy organizing several successful events before graduating in 1971.

TALKING OVER THEIR responsibilities as Freshman fall officers are Linda Chelucci, frosh cheerleader; Linda Sato, treasurer; Ann Betzel, secretary; Leavy Canalin, vice-president, and Priscilla Castro, president.

ADMINISTRATION, FACULTY AND STAFF

Sunrise Brightens Future, Sets Goals

Sunset falls on Encinal marking the end of a year. A year in which success and failure have clashed and yet worked together toward fulfilling the separate goal for which all strive. Some may have achieved their goal; most have failed. In failing we may have glimpsed that one idea that would have meant victory. Thus we are ready to meet the next challenge as we reflect on this year. Yet we do not linger at the sunset, instead we anxiously await the sunrise and its world of new horizons in which we can apply our new inspiration.

To those people who assisted the staff, we give our sincere thanks:

To Mr. Brandes, whose authority and understanding constantly provided needed encouragement.

To the entire faculty for putting up with interruptions and for being so understanding.

To Trans World Airlines for their beautiful picture of the jet on pages 2 and 3 of the book.

To Bordanaro and Zarcone, our photographers, who were very cooperative and who constantly tried to please us.

To Mr. Don Freeman who provided ideas and encouragement when there was doubt and indecision and inspired us throughout the year.

To Larry Kirkland for his cover design and division page art work.

To Steve Angelo for his advertising design for Pacific Telephone Company.

To Carl Hamilton whose support and patronage we appreciate.

Most of all we would like to thank Mrs. Shirley Houck, our advisor, for all her help, advice and needed encouragement.

Rose McKnight, Steve Beer
